This course is designed for those theatre students and drama teachers who seek further experience in a workshop setting. The choice, type, and number of plays presented in this six-week workshop will only be limited by the number of students enrolled, their enthusiasm, and available time. Time will be taken for daily critiques, group discussions, and evaluations of every phase of the workshop's progress so that all aspects of production with their various problems and solutions will be experienced by everyone. The workshop is in essence a miniature Actor's Laboratory Theatre.
